A TAIL OF A CASSOWARY.

Dr. Hause, of the Royal Museum, has jus finished preparing a valuable addition to his feet high, by Capt. Loff, of the Devamongse, the price being an axe and two tenpenny nails, or something of that sort. Capt. Loff shortly afterwards presented it to Messrs. Windsor and Co., under whose fostering care it throve apace. It was the terror of all the dogs in the locality, and when one was seen with about half a pound of meat missing from one side it could safely be assumed that it had been trespassing in the cassowary's compound. With its owners, however, the bird was amiability itself. Its greatest treat used to be the feed of eggs provided by one of the staff after tiffin. but the practical joking of Mr. Lindemann-who delighted in smashing the eggs as they gravitated down its neck-caused it after a while to view hen-fruit with suspicion. It got even with its persecutor later on, however, by swallowing the bigger part of a heap of round ticals which he had left on his deak, together with all his keys. For some time thereafter the opulent bird was the object of much attention on the part of the coolies, but it gave no encouragement—Indeed it only developed its sordid appetite, and took to embezzling from heaps of silver belonging to native clients of the firm, whilst they were being counted out at the office door. The curious part of the business is -- perhaps on account of the fall in exchangeonly a few salungs and cents (and of course the keys) were found in its stomach at the postmortem. For two long years the cassowary stalked about the wharf in dignified solltude listening to the jingle of its banking account, and taking toll of the orange-hawkers and sugarcane sellers, and then its end came.

It suffered from obliquity of vision, physically as well as morally, and could only see in front Therefore when it started to explore the Borneo Co.'s premites it fell off a plank into the creek. It swam straight off into the middle of the river before it got its bearings, and could start for the shore. It became chong hong-thought Itself s awan, and used to go racing sampans. The last time it failed to take the necessary observations, and it is supposed to have either swum straight up and down until it died of starvation, or to have fallen a victim to a jealous sampan-man. CHINA AND THE UNITED STATES.

We get from time to time an inkling of the without an illness; the others (still more fortunate) tlegislation which our bridiant Secretary of State! have known the sadness of suffering and the pleasure and Yang You, a Chinaman, are maturing for of recovery. the disposition of the Chinese question. Fresh Oh, my! oh, my! how hard it is to tell who is best drom his triemphs in Hawail, Mr. Greekem ie ; off in this queer world.

seeking distinction in the broader field of China. Under the pretence of making a treaty he holds frequent consultation with the Chinese Minister. How the latter has come to have a voice in the settlement of domertic questions in the United States has never been satisfactorily explained Japan at neon to-day for a two months' holiday by the former rising statesman. Nations, of course, do make treaties, but they relate to kong Regiment, with the band, occupied Pedder's International topics. To make an international compact in relation to a home question is to admit a dual sovereignty. If China is to have a voice in the framing of laws solely operated in the United States, Callfornia is little more than a fiel of the Chinese Empire, or, more correctly speaking, of the single province of Canton: But Mr. Gresham goes on dealing with a man who has no right to assist in making laws for our State, or to suggest any. It is known from the Sandwich Islands incident that the views of our Richeli-uon foreign topics are very loose, not to say primitive. Mr. Yang You will not sit down with Mr. Gresham and engage in the formation of a treaty regulating the succession to the throne of China. The former considers that to be a subject that can alone be handled by the Chinese Government, He will not for a moment admit that the United States should have any voice whatever in the

But our great and shining statesman in the office of Secretary of State consorts with the Chinese Minister for the purpose of making a joint law in relation to the most important question which California and the Pacific States have to deal with. Any law bearing upon it we Natural History collection, in the shape of a expect to have passed by our Congress and not young cassowary. The bird was obtained in by two men in a back room, one of whom is a New Guines when a chicken, only about two Foreign Minister. It is true that their work. whatever it may be, is only suggestive. It has to receive the sanction of the Government and the approval of two-thirds of a quorum of the Senate. But the work is secret, is usually not open to public discussion, and in most cases is brought to a successful issue. As an illustration of the manner in which the Secretary of State considers the case, it is reported that he recently informed one of our Congressmen, it is supposed with an air of triumph, that the Chinese Minister had agreed to allow the law of the United States in relation to registration to stand,

There is no allegation that Mr. Gresham felt any humiliation in making the statement. So far as it was possible to read between the lines. he considered that this was a concession secured by his superior statemanship. The questions that are coming up in relation to treaties with China are, it is true, novel, and to a certain extent without precedent. But this arises from the fact that they bear on local questions never before treated in these documents by civil'zed nations. The treaty-making power of the President and the Senate does not extend to all issues that may come up. There can be no mixture of local legislation in them, for anything of that kind is not only a surrender of some part of our sovereignty, but a usurpation of the powers of Congress. Not long since it seemed to be held that we had deposited a part of the sovereign rights of our Government at Peking, and could not pass any laws in relation to the Chinese in our midst until we had induced the Brother of the Sun and the Moon to surrender it.

The Supreme Court of the United States, in some of its decisions lately, has been inculcating some more just notions on the subject of national. sovereignty. What other and further triumphs in his dealings with Minister Yang You, Mr. Gresham will secure can only be faintly guessed at. The retitence of that statesman is of a very marked character, if his ability is not. But we fully expect before long that he will announce, in trumpet tones, that in addition to permitting us to make our own laws. China, in the treaty negotiated by him, has graciously consented to humor one of our fancies, and forbid the emigration of coolies to this country. But these latter do not come directly from any port in China. They embark at the British port of Hongkong, and it is therefore with England that we will have to wrestle, if the negotiation of the matter is transferred to the other side of the Pacific-S. F. Bulletin.

She was born in London in 1787, and is therefore 105 years old She remembers many incidents of her childhood, and still has traces of former beauty. Her eyes are bright, and become snimated when she talks. She retains her mental faculties completely. She descends two flights of stairs to every mest, and returns without assistance. Up to three years ago she was a regular attendant at the Greenwood Baptist Church. Her sight is greatly increased taxation rendered necessary by excellent, and she reads the newspapers every day, and takes great interest in the news from England. to use every effort to bring about a settlement of She has never had any severe illness in her life, and her appetite and digestion are almost as good as they were fifty years ago.

The second woman says: "Ever since I was a child I have suffered from illness. Thirteen years ago a tired, languid, and heavy feeling came over me. The whites of my eyes became tinged with yellow, my skin was sallow, and hands and feet were cold and clammy. My mouth tasted badly, especially in the morning, and I was often sick, vomiting a sour, frothy fluid. I had a pain in the chest and sides, heartburn, and fiatulency. For four years I suffered like this, and I shall be glad to recommend the medicine that finally cared me." (Signed) (Mrs.) FRANCES EMILY SMITH, 494, Woodhouse Street, Leeds, January 25th, 1892.

The third woman says : "I have been delicate all my life, For the past six years I have always felt tired, languid, and week. I had a poor appetits, a During the Drams, the following Scotch Songs had taste in the mouth, and pain after every morsel and Choruses will be given:— I ate. I was digay, and often felt as if I was going to Mr. James Wilson, proposed and Babu Sitanith fall. I always felt slok, and would retch and strain, but could bring nothing up. There was a dull pain at the right side and a dreadful pain between the shoulders. I never knew what it was to be well After being on my feet for a time my legs would swell very much. No doctor was able to help me, nor any H. M. S. Pigeon and the P. and O. steamer which gave me my health back. I never felt so well Ganges have started in search of the P. and O. in my life as I do now." (Bigned) (Mrs.) BARAE

> Why do we put these three women in a group—the one venerable woman in America and the two others | Scotch Airs on the Bagpipes. here in England? They are perfect strangers to one another and always will be. We do it to show how Mrs. J. F. BRIAN and Miss BELLE BRIAN long and happily a woman may live if she only threatens her sex; and also to show that everywhere have been burdened and oursed with it may be cured and once more taste the joys of health. Mrs. Smith concludes her letter in these words: er After taking three bottles of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup all pain and sickness left me, and I knew no more of the ailment that had troubled me so long, indigection and dyspepsis. I know others who have been benefited by the Syrup. All sufferers should use

Mrs. Sharman adds that after she had doctored The Pall Mail Gazette states that Mr. Rodd acceeds Mr. Hardings as Scaretary of the Legation in Egypt.

Mr. Dadabhai Naoroji's name appears among the Vice-Presidents of the National League for the abolition of the House of Lords.

Mrs. marman ands and states are see use non decorated and doctored and taken everything, almost without getting any good from it, Mr. Webster, a grocer of Glinton, said, "Why don't you me Mother Seigel's Gurative Syrup?" She acted on his suggestion, and health wasn't long in coming. "I cannot speak too highly of Seigel's Syrup," she says. We should agree with her in that opinion, for a remedy that will in a few weeks put an end to a pass of phronic indigestion and dyspepsis is certainly worth a good word or two, Now here you have these three Englishwomen -- one so fortunate as to have lived more than a century
